Supplementary Material II: Dataset for the Analyses

The following dataset lists the data which was used for the analysis in the following form:
- Every entry starts from a Swadesh-concept (the data contains a total of 200 concepts)
- Every concept is followed by the cognate sets which are numberd by unique integers
- Every cognate set consists of a dialect dentifier name and the dialect entry in the original data, which can be either a phonetic transcription or a Chinese character

The original data for this study was originally compiled by Wáng Fēng for the paper of Ben Hamed and Wang (2006, see the main text for the original reference). The data was kindly provided by Wáng Fēng and then converted to the format in which it is given below. The computer-readable version of the data is provided as part of Supplementary Material IV, which offers original data and scripts to replicate all analyses described in the paper.
